I have known Ben Gray for a number of years. Through this time he has been a key church leader in the city of Brisbane, as well as establishing a Christian leadership profile both nationally and internationally.

I have been impressed by Ben's service in the following areas:

- Firstly he was instrumental in establishing the Australian Prayer Network in 1993 and currently maintains an apostolic oversight, as well as the co-chair of the National Day of Thanksgiving. He continues to encourage people from all denominations to pray and engage with the wider community.
- Secondly he has established and nurtures good community networks with his solid involvement in BrizNet, which organises the Lord Mayors Prayer Breakfast and "Yes We Care" outreach ministry.
- Thirdly he has displayed a love for mission work, both within his local church as well as the broader church. This has included him participating in cross-denominational movements, conducting short-term mission projects, training and church planting.

His gifts include an ability and passion to speak to a range of different people both in the church and in the broader community.

Ben personally models attributes of good Christian leadership – being a man of vision, integrity, loyalty and commitment. He has a passion for ministry and mission, and works tirelessly for Kingdom values to become a reality in his city, nation and internationally.

Yours Sincerely,

Tim Costello
